Kids Empathy Development Scale (KEDS)

Request for use and terms of agreement

Thank you for your interest in the KEDS. Our team enjoys working with collaborators around the world and we consider requests at our fortnightly research meeting. It will help us in this process if you are able to complete and return this form so that we can know a little about your proposed research.

I, _____(name) from _____(organisation) would like to request access to use of the Kids Empathy Development Scale © for the purposes of research.

I/we propose a collaboration with the Project KIDS team that involves (please circle those that apply):

1. Recognition of permission to use the KEDS in any ensuing publication, through citation of: Reid, C., Davis, H., Horlin, C., Anderson, M., Baughman, N. & Campbell, C. (2013). The Kids' Empathic Development Scale (KEDS): A multi-dimensional measure of empathy in primary school aged children. British Journal of Developmental Psychology. Jun;31(Pt 2):231-56. doi: 10.1111/bjdp.12002. Epub 2012 Nov 2

2. Research collaboration and co-authorship with the Project KIDS research team

We understand that if permission is granted:

1. The KEDS materials remain the copyright property of the Project KIDS research team and should not be shared with others for use beyond this agreement without first seeking permission from Associate Prof Corinne Reid, Clinical Director of Project KIDS
2. The KEDS should not be used for commercial purposes (i.e. there should be no fee paid for administration)
3. The KEDS must be used in accordance with the implementation and scoring system outlined in the manual.
4. You and /or your team members agree to send us copies of published or unpublished works resulting from this agreement.
